English Leather Steamer Trunks at Saks'

6 models—$50.00 to $115.00

The greatest Anglo-Saxon characteristic is stability. Stability means to "stay put." And an English leather steamer trunk is a concrete example. In appearance it looks like a threat. Defiance sticks out at its reinforced corners, and the leather thongs that girdle it stand out like biceps on a fighter's arms. Magnificently made and will stand the toughest usage in the world.

Women's Dress Trunks at Saks'

Over 50 models—11.75 to 100.00

Basewood or veneer, covered with duck or pegamoid. Contains from two to three trays, to hold two to three hats and from ten to fifteen gowns. Ideal for home travel. These trunks begin as low as 11.75 and pass through infinite gradations until they reach 100.00. Yet all of them, regardless of price, are trunks of quality and the finest obtainable at their respective prices.

Our object in assembling such an unusually large assortment of these trunks will be apparent. All her sweet young life, woman has her hands full finding room for her clothes, and her tribulations are increased tenfold when she travels. Moreover, she wants to enjoy just as wide a selection in trunks as she does in gowns, gloves and gingham. She can hardly be expected to find what she wants in a beggarly assortment of a dozen models. And that is why the Saks Trunk and Bag Department carries more than fifty models, including that very model which Madam wants.

Saks'—the Commissariat of Travel

Q New York is one of the great focal points of traffic. Westward through her gates flows the ceaseless tide of immigration. Eastward, from New York and from a thousand cities West of of her, rolls the tide of European travel.

Q And New Yorkers at home are of necessity great travelers, accustomed to spectacular distances, and thinking little or nothing of a 1,000-mile trip overnight.

Q It was such considerations as these which impelled us to establish a travel department on parallel lines—a department big enough, broad enough and resourceful enough to provide for every need of the traveler.

Q That was nine years ago, and to-day the Saks Trunk and Bag Department is still without a peer in the extent and the diversity of its travel assortments.

Q It carries every conceivable requisite of travel from "the harmless necessary" grip to the trunk that rides hell-bent into the steamer hold and comes out none the worse for wear.

Q The Saks Trunk and Bag Department is a great commissariat of travel, and whether you are bound for Boston, intent on Indianapolis, called to Chicago, pointing for Paris, leaving for London or considering the circumnavigation of the globe, Saks can equip you thoroughly, economically and expeditiously.

Skirt Trunks

20 models—13.50 to 45.00

42 to 44 inches long.Steamer Trunks

Size 36 to 40 inch.

Mule-Back Trunks

6 models—30.00 to 50.00

Wardrobe Trunks at Saks'

Q Progress is seldom uniform. It goes on in spots. You may travel under ground and under water from Jersey to Long Island—but the Bleecker Street Crosstown horse car still holds the uneven tenor of its way! And in spite of the wonderful facilities of travel, it is only within the past two years that any notable improvement has taken place in the manufacture of Wardrobe Trunks. But such improvements as have been made in that time amply compensate for the delay in their appearance.

Q The Wardrobe Trunk to-day would seem to be at the very height of its development. Compact in its capaciousness, complex yet simple, every Wardrobe Trunk at Saks' offers, in varying degree, permanent relief from the worries usually attendant upon the packing of the wherewithal for a trip. And we speak with a knowledge of our subject, for we carry the largest and the most varied stock of Wardrobe Trunks in the world.

Q In listing the Wardrobe Trunks below we have satisfied ourselves with a brief mention of the many brands of Wardrobe Trunks we handle and the prices. The name behind the trunk is in every instance a sufficient guarantee as to its quality and durability or it would not be represented by us. But behind that guarantee is ours, to stand sponsor for the merit and value of whatever we sell.

Q The Mendel de Luxe is an incomparable value at 150.00. But we can with equal accuracy say the same thing of the Saks Special Wardrobe Trunk for men and women, at 27.00. Each is the best that the price of either can buy and so are they all without exception.

Mendel wardrobe trunks, for men or women, 40 models	38.00, 45.00, 50.00, 55.00, 60.00, 65.00, 75.00, 85.00, 100.00, 110.00, 150.00

GETS A ROOM, KILLS HIMSELFSIMON STEIN TAKES POISON AT HOTEL MANHATTAN.

Said He Expected Business Men and Ranked Chairs About a Table—His Brother Came and Couldn't Get In—The Dead Man Was in Insurance.

A middle aged man appeared at the desk of the Hotel Manhattan a little after noon yesterday and said to a clerk:

"I'm Simon Stein, in the insurance business at 320 Broadway. Three men are to meet me here this afternoon and I'd like to hire a room for a business conference."

Mr. Stein registered as "Simon Stein, 320 Broadway" (where he lived), and a bellboy escorted him to a conference room on an upper floor. A table and chairs were the only furniture. Mr. Stein had the boy pull four chairs up to the table and then dismissed him.

Presently Mr. Stein telephoned to the office that he needed a pitcher of ice water and four glasses. The boy who filled the order set the pitcher in the center of the table, as directed by the man, and a glass in front of each chair.

The hotel office heard nothing more of Mr. Stein until about 5:30 o'clock, when a man appeared who said he was Simon Stein's brother, Morton Stein, and that he had come in response to a telephone call from his brother. The clerk telephoned to the room that Simon Stein had taken, but got no answer.

Morton Stein went upstairs to the room. In a moment he came running down the stairs, saying:

"Get a doctor. I think my brother has had a stroke or something. He's lying on the floor."

The hotel physician, Dr. Fellows Davis, Jr., of 24 West Forty-seventh street, came. He went to Simon Stein's room with the brother and Edward M. Shanks, the hotel manager. Simon Stein lay dead on the floor, where he had fallen after drinking from the glass that had been on the table in front of him. In the bottom of the glass were crystals which Dr. Davis said were crystals of potassium. In one of Simon Stein's pockets was a package containing more of the poison. A corner of the package had been torn off.

Coroner Fienberg said it was clear that Simon Stein had poured some of the crystals of potassium into his glass of water and after drinking had fallen off his chair. He called the death suicide and gave Morton Stein permission to remove the body.

The Coroner found no letters. Morton Stein said his brother had no reason that he knew of for suicide. He only knew that Simon Stein had telephoned him about 3:30 o'clock that he was feeling ill and asked Morton to come to the hotel. Morton Stein hadn't heard that Simon was expecting a business conference at the Manhattan.

Simon Stein was in the life insurance business at 320 Broadway and lived with his wife at the Regent Hall apartments, 310 Broadway. The couple were married about ten months ago. Mrs. Stein, who was a Miss Walstein, is about 29 years old. Her husband was 38.

Morton Stein is a lawyer at 37 Liberty street and lives at 514 West 122d street.

Lima Strike Settled.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LIMA, Peru, April 11.—The general strike of workmen begun yesterday in sympathy with a small strike at a factory is over. The sub-prefect of Lima succeeded in arranging the matter and the men resumed work. There were no disturbances in the city during the short strike.

The Weather.

April 12.—There was a slight eastward movement yesterday in general weather conditions. The pressure continued high over all sections of the Mississippi river, with its center over Quebec and northern New York.

High pressure covered the Pacific States, but between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains and in the Northwest it was comparatively low, with a low center over Alberta. The depression had little energy. Light rain or snow fell in the Northwestern States. In the Mississippi and Tennessee valleys and the Gulf and south Atlantic States there was a moderate rainfall. Over the northeastern quarter of the country the weather was fair.

It was warmer in the Mississippi Valley and over the eastward except in northern New England. In the Rocky Mountain States and westward it was generally cooler.

Freezing weather covered most of Montana and Wyoming and parts of Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico, also northern New York and New England.

In this city the day was fair and warmer; wind, fresh northeast to southeast; average wind, 45 per cent; barometer, corrected to sea level, at 8 A. M., 30.62; 3 P. M., 30.60.

The temperature yesterday, as recorded by the official thermometer, is shown in the annexed table:

	1911.	1910.	1909.	1908.
9 A. M.	48°	45°	45°	51°
12 M.	48°	55°	55°	51°
3 P. M.	50°	56°	56°	48°
High temperature, 51°; at 2 P. M.

For eastern New York, increasing cloudiness to-day; rain by night and to-morrow; moderate to brisk east to southeast winds.

For New England, increasing cloudiness to-day; rain to-morrow in southern part and rain or snow in northern part; moderate to brisk east to southeast winds.

RALPH BRANDRETH JAILED

VICTIM OF A BELGIAN HOTEL KEEPER'S SUSPICIONS.

Young New Yorker and His Secretary Sentenced to Two Years in Brussels Mendacity Depot—Speedily Released on Proving Identity—Busy Career.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. BRUSSELS, April 11.—The Etoile Belge prints a strange story to-day about the imprisonment of a rich New Yorker and his secretary, a Parisian, on a charge of vagrancy. It says that the two spent about four weeks of a two years' sentence in jail. They were set free to-day.

It is said that the New Yorker is Ralph Brandreth and his secretary's name is Auguste Mathias. They were arrested on March 15 on a charge of swindling the proprietor of a hotel. The charge was subsequently changed to vagabondage and upon this the judge imposed a long sentence at the Mendicity Depot upon them.

Brandreth appealed to the Minister of Justice, who started an investigation and quickly satisfied himself of the truth of Brandreth's story that he was an American and a man of means. He immediately ordered the release of the pair.

Brandreth, it is said, will return to the United States immediately.

Ralph Brandreth is the son of the pill manufacturer and is 27 years old. He disappeared from here about six months ago and later turned up at Monte Carlo, when he was reported in February to have sent a cable dispatch which read: "Broke. Down and out. Robbed railroad wreck. In hell. Send $400 quick."

This message it was reported at the time had been received by the executors of his father's estate, which was then in litigation before the Surrogate of Nassau county. Under the will the children, including Ralph, were to have $1,200 a year, but were not to come into their full inheritance until their youngest sister, now 13 years of age, reaches her eighteenth year.

The life of young Brandreth even before his European adventures began had been full of color, to put it mildly. He developed a fondness for big red automobiles from one thing, and finally to curb his impetuosity his mother decided to send him to sea. It was not as a sailor that she planned for him to sail the seven seas, but he was to navigate them as the owner of a seventy-foot yawl, the Tacoma, elaborately fitted out with plenty of stores, firearms and a balloon and with Capt. Thomas C. Lovelace, formerly Admiral of the Panama navy, consisting of one vessel, in command. The captain's commission was to take Ralph to faraway places like those visited by Robinson Crusoe and Capt. Kidd. Six magazine rifles and 15,000 rounds of ammunition went along with them, a fact which so excited the United States secret service agents that they caused an investigation to be made to learn if Ralph was a filibuster.

The good ship Tacoma got no nearer the seven seas than the Narrows before she collided with a four-master. A mile further along she hit a barge. The latter accident brought her back to port. She started out again and got as far as Norfolk, where she was attached for a $300 grocery bill. That ended the expedition.

All this happened in February, 1907. Two years later, while hurrying to New York in an automobile to get married, young Brandreth and his fiancée, Miss Edith Armstrong, were thrown out and had to be taken to a hospital. They were married there later, the bride sitting up in bed to go through the ceremony.

Mrs. Brandreth did not follow her husband abroad, but has been living with her father, John H. Armstrong, at Bretton Hall.

BRITISH JUDGE HOOTED.

Seat in Parliament for Exeter Transferred From Liberal to Unionist.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, April 11.—The unusual occurrence of a Judge of the High Court being hooted in public on account of a judicial decision happened to-day in Exeter. The decision was the outcome of the canvass of the December general election.

On that occasion St. Maur, the Liberal candidate, polled 4,786 votes, while Duke, the Unionist, received 4,782. Duke petitioned for a scrutiny of the vote and Justices Ridley and Channel were appointed to conduct the canvass. After several days investigation, in which many illegal practices by individuals were revealed as well as an amazing collection of forgeries, several votes on each side were disallowed. The verdict was given to Duke, the Judges deciding that his total legal vote was 4,777, against St. Maur's 4,776.

Party rancor was stirred up during the investigation. The Liberals conceived the idea that the Judges were biased. St. Maur said that the country should be rid of unjust Judges. Judge Ridley arose in his seat and tapped St. Maur upon the shoulder, saying that he had no right to refer to him so. St. Maur replied hotly and there was a brief wordy wrangle.

The crowd followed the Judge from the court house to the train, giving vent to their feelings in a chorus of hoots and jeers for the Judge.

SAID MASS ON DAY OF MURDER.

Register of Camorrist Priest Produced in Court—Pause to Next Week.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. VITERBO, April 11.—When the trial of the Camorrist was resumed this morning it was announced that at the close of to-day's session an adjournment would be taken over the remainder of Holy Week and that the case would be resumed on April 19.

Various objects which had been sequestered by the carabinieri at the home of the priest, Gio Vittozzi, were produced in court this morning. Among them were letters which tended to show that Vittozzi was a money lender. There were also a lock of hair of a woman and his register of masses. The latter showed that the priest celebrated mass on the day in June, 1906, when Gennaro Cuocolo was murdered.

But Rumor Says Powers Will Oppose Intervention in Morocco.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. MADRID, April 11.—Preparations for intervention in Morocco continue. The Government has ordered the Compania Transatlantica Española to be in readiness to move 12,000 troops at a moment's notice.

A despatch from Ferrol says that marines sailed thence to-day for Cadiz.

It is insisted that the forces are going to Larache as a first step in the intervention. The Minister of War declares that the movement of troops is simply a precaution.

It is given out on good authority that the Powers will send to France a collective note opposing intervention.
